Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, 5-7, 9, 11-14, 16, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kobayashi et al. (USPN 5542600).

Kobayashi teaches a method and apparatus for soldering and visually assessing solder joints wherein a video camera (col 15 lines 45-50) is used in combination with a conveyor (4, 5, 11, 31) and control means (CPU) to assess the need for corrective soldering (col 9 line 55 – col 10 line 61). The board is then resoldered as necessary (col 14 lines 1-62 and col 22 line 41 – col 23 line 18, figure 6 and 14) with the soldering tool (13). The apparatus may comprise a robot (col 1 lines 36-43). The device is appropriate for circuit boards (col 1 lines 10-23). See also figures 1 and 2.

Response to Arguments

3. Regarding applicant's argument that Kobayashi does not teach selective soldering, see figure 2, which shows a soldering iron (13), which is a selective soldering tool for soldering at a specific location without disturbing surrounding areas.

4. Therefore the 102 rejection of claims 1-3 and 7-9 as anticipated by Kobayashi stands and now includes claims 5, 6, 11-14, 16, 19 and 20.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 17, 18 and 21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ross (USPN 6788406), Wood et al. (USPN 5145099), Spigarelli et al. (USPN 4832250) and Vilella (USPN 6681038 B2).
